

A standard linear barcode consisting of vertical black bars of varying widths on a white background. The barcode is used for document tracking and identification.

